Dedication

Dr. Channing Lefebvre

With Dr. Lefebvre's retirement, the School loses an invaluable member of its faculty. Doc's genius at the organ has continually enriched the Chapel and its services which give St. Paul's much of its spirit. He has been an inseparable part of the Chapel and of the air of grandeur and tradition that surrounds it.

Not only is Doc a great organist and choirmaster; he has also been to us a beloved and respected friend. We will remember him smoking his pipe on the Shattuck dock, or taking his walk before the Sunday Service, or wreaking vengeance on delinquent elbows in the Lower School Dining room.

The School will deeply feel the absence of Doctor and Mrs. Lefebvre. We wish them every happiness in the future.

The Austin P. Montgomerys

The Sixth Form wishes Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery happiness and success in their new position. We appreciate their contributions to the School, and are particularly grateful to Mr. Montgomery for his constant concern for the School's highest standards.

Conroy Fellowship

Mr. and Mrs. D. Forbes Mackintosh

St. Paul's is particularly grateful to Mrs. William H. Conroy. Her great generosity enabled Mr. and Mrs. Mackintosh from Loretto, Scotland to spend the Fall term at the School. Mr. Mackintosh was received with much enthusiasm in class and on the Rugby field. Mrs. Mackintosh, because of her warmth and interest, added much to school life. As a couple, the Mackintoshes were thoroughly delightful. The happy results of their stay demonstrate the worth of the Conroy Fellowships.

Fall

One of the most successful Fall terms in the history of St. Paul's commenced on Monday, September 19, with the return of the Sixth Form. Soon after came one hundred and fifteen new boys, followed by the rest of the old boys, making the School four hundred and forty-three strong. Absent, to the sorrow of the School, was Binny Clark, a member of the Sixth Form who had been very seriously injured in a Jeep accident over the summer.

Among the faces that greeted the School's return were ten new ones—nine of them male, and one of the fair sex. The Sacred Studies Department welcomed the Rev. Mr. Aiken, and the English Department, Mr. Barrett and Mr. Pell. Messrs. Hurtgen, Klein, and Toebosch joined the cosmopolitan Modern Language Department, while Mr. Wichura and Mr. Silhanek joined the Math and Classics Departments respectively. Mr. Norman Blake came to the School in preparation to become organist and choir-master at Dr. Lefebvre's retirement. Miss Usborne, the only female teacher, became a member of the expanding Art Department.

Also present at the opening day was Mr. D. Forbes Mackintosh, retired headmaster of Scotland's Loretto School. He was to spend the term at the School as an English master under a Conroy Fellowship.

On Saturday, September 24, the School gathered in Memorial Hall for the annual Assembly. After the Rector had explained the regulations of the School, Sixth Form President Marshall Bartlett wished all an enjoyable and profitable year. He invoked the support of the School for the Council and reminded everyone of his individual responsibilities. Following the address, the old boys elected Peter Pell and Biff Lea President and Vice-President respectively of the Boys' Athletic Association.

The Fall sports scene found Co-captains Harry Loomis and Ed Pillsbury leading the Isthmian First Football team to its third consecutive championship. The Isthmians found their only stiff opposition in the Old Hundreds, captained by Dick Pearce. Biff Lea and his spirited but outclassed Delphians finished last. Under Captain Loomis the SPS Football team once again lacked experience, and met with disappointment. The JVs, on the other hand, won their two games for a successful season.

In soccer the first team series ended in the first three-way championship in the history of the School. Although the Old Hundreds, under Bill Matthews, were favored to win, they were matched by the Isthmians, led by Jim Fordyce, and the Delphians, under Craigh Leonard. SPS Soccer, captained by Bill Matthews, had a moderately successful season, while the JVs, raising hopes for the future, were undefeated.

Although the SPS Cross Country team (Captain: Terry Thompson) won only two of its five races, it was fifth out of ten schools in the Interscholastics, and can be considered to have had a successful season. Rick Wilmer, out for the first time, was the team's top runner. The first of the School Cross Country runs was won by the third floor of the New Upper, while the club race ended in a stalemate between the Old Hundreds and the Isthmians. The season came to a close with the infamous crawl to Long Pond, "led" by Captains Owen Walker and Ru Rauch.

Cricket Holiday arrived on Monday, October 3. The new boys traveled to New Hampton on the seacoast of New Hampshire where, during the morning, the hardy souls went swimming. In the afternoon, Mr. Mackintosh educated all on the intricacies of Cricket, and, accompanied by the Rector, gave a short demonstration on how the game is to be played.

The second annual Parents' Day was held on Saturday, October 22, with over two hundred parents at the School. The program was highlighted by a morning of speeches by Messrs. Clark, Stuckey, MacDonald, and Burnham, and by an afternoon of football and soccer.

Several days later, the Shifters, a rock-'n-roll group, made their debut at a Penacook High School dance. The group was composed of Tim Secor, Bru Abeles, Ed Pillsbury, Mike Seymour, and Dud Weaver. By popular demand the Shifters appeared the next evening at a dance in the Upper School common room where the School was host to fifty-six girls from Concord Academy.

Election Day, Tuesday, November 8, climaxed a week in which, as the "Pelican" stated, "we were witness to political harangues in morning Reports, a popular attempt to usurp the Rectory, and sundry political incidents all over the School." The crowning point of the day was a debate in which Stew Bell, Doug Cofrin, and Kim Milliken spoke on the virtues of conservatism, while John Shattuck, Owen Walker, and Pete Britton elaborated on the merits of liberalism.

The remainder of the term progressed in an orderly fashion. The first Birckhead Lecture of the year, entitled "Lightning on the Wing," was presented by James Fowler. Fifty-four females made their way to St. Paul's on Saturday, November 12, for the Fall Dance. As in the past, the main event was held in the Gates Room with music provided by Harry Marshard and his band. Thanksgiving came two weeks later, and with it the Dramatic Club's production of "Romanoff and Juliet." This clever comedy, directed ably by Mr. Greaves, was greatly enjoyed by the School. Among the cast were four female importees from Concord High, and Phil Hecksher, Sandy Higgins, John Hawes, Eddie Potter, and Terry Thompson.

On Sunday, November 27, the pulpit was invaded by three members of the Sixth Form, Jon Wainwright, Sandy Higgins, and Mike VanDusen. They reported to the School on their weekend at the Northfield Conference. The School enjoyed this novel sermon.

With the end of the Fall term on Wednesday, December 14, spirit and enthusiasm were still high. It had been a good term. The Rector stated at a Sixth Form meeting that he had been most pleased at the way the Sixth Form and the rest of the School had handled themselves. The term concluded somewhat mournfully as the SPS Hockey team lost to the Princeton Freshmen in Madison Square Garden.

Winter

When the School looks back on the winter term of 1961 in future years, this term will be remembered as the one in which the Big Study burned down. On the night of Saturday, January 21, the eighty-nine year old building was gutted by fire. At times it seemed that the flames would spread to the New Chapel, but the blaze was finally contained through the excellent work of the Concord Fire Department. Although no one was injured, the eight members of the faculty who lived there lost all their possessions. The Horae and Pelican lost many valuable records; in addition much expensive recording equipment was destroyed. The School, however, adjusted quickly to the crisis, and before long life returned almost to normal.

During the first part of the term, until Dance Weekend, the School experienced some severely cold weather. At one time the temperature remained below freezing for sixteen consecutive days. We were not plagued by the customary January thaw, which had been promised early in the term by Mr. Warren. The last half of the term saw, in contrast, some unseasonably warm weather, which caused the ice and snow to melt before hockey and skiing schedules were completed. March, as usual, featured mud and rain compounded with a pair of late winter snow storms.

In sports, the most outstanding achievement was the fine season of the SPS basketball team, coached by Mr. Shoemaker. Leading the team to its 5-3 record were captain Tod Rodger and Tommy Thomas, who tied for high scoring honors. Since eight members of this year's team will be back for next season, prospects are bright. The team was enthusiastically supported even by the die-hard hockey fans.

For the hockey, squash, and skiing teams, winter 1961 is one to forget. The hockey team gained some solace for its disastrous season by achieving its only victory against the crack Yale Freshmen on Dance Weekend. The main reason for the disappointing season was the lack of consistent scoring. The squash team managed only one victory, but toward the end of the year showed noticeable improvement. With more experience the team might have fared better. Although the ski team failed to win a meet, all the meets were close. Since the team was made up of Fourth and Fifth Formers, the School should have an outstanding team in a year or two. During the slush season Terry Winslow won the school squash tournament, the third floor of the Upper house basketball tourney, and Ford the Supervisor's Squash Cup.

Dance Weekend, February 11 and 12, was highly successful. On Saturday morning the School watched the hockey team defeat Yale, 1-0. That afternoon the Mish sponsored its second annual Talent Show, which again this year proved to be very popular with the School. After dinner in the New Upper forty-five couples danced to the music of Marshard in the Gates room. Intermission entertainment was provided by the Electras, a fifth form rock and roll group.

On Saturday, February 25, the Master Players presented Oscar Wilde's The Importance of Being Earnest under the co-direction of Messrs. Greaves and Lander. Mr. Klein played the lead role as the duel characters John and Earnest. Mr. Pell was seen as Algernon. Cast in the principal female roles were Mrs. Honea and Mrs. Kellogg. Mrs. Higgins headed the supporting cast. Mr. Abbe's rotating set proved to be the most effective and imaginative scenery on the SPS stage in recent years. Although the faculty were high in praise for the Master Player's interpretation of this difficult drawing room comedy, the student body received the production with mixed emotions.

The following Saturday the Sixth Form put on its show. Wint Aldrich starred in a locally adapted version of Hamlet. Owen Walker directed the five act drama. Marshall Bartlett found himself in the role of Claudius; Mike Madeira was the Ghost. Ed Pillsbury and Dick Neff sparkled as Ophelia and Gertrude respectively. The "play within the play" was borrowed from Wells' The Time Machine. Doug Cofrin acted the part of Space Traveller, while Dick Stollenwerck was enticing as Weena. As is the custom, distinguished members of the faculty and several school traditions were written into the plot. It can be said, in fact, that very little of SPS escaped at least partial mention in this fast-paced production which the School thoroughly enjoyed as an opportunity to laugh at itself.

The winter term brought some distinguished guests to the school. For musical entertainment both the Boston Arts Festival Orchestra and Richard Dyer Bennett visited the school. On February 10, Dr. Malcolm Millar delivered the Birkhead Lecture entitled Alaska and Beyond the Pole. After being snowed out of a previous weekend the Hon. John C. Dreier, as the winter term Conroy Fellow, visited the school Friday March 3 through Sunday March 5 to address the faculty and the upper two forms on problems in Latin America. Many took advantage of the opportunities to meet and talk with Mr. and Mrs. Dreier on both Friday and Saturday afternoon. Mr. Dreier was able to convey the interests and experiences of his many years of diplomatic life in such a way as to have been a very stimulating Conroy Fellow.

On Saturday, March 18 the last dramatic efforts of the term were produced. — the Fiske Cup Finals. Conover, Foster, Middle, and Dorm III presented their productions which included such notables as U. S. Grant and Sir John Falstaff. Foster's Four for Bridge, high drama in a plane, was the winner. The play was written by Mr. Denis Johnston and directed by none other than his son Rory Johnston.

The Term ended with an innovation caused by the study fire. The last night handshaking was held under a long tent on the chapel walk.

Spring

The spring term of 1961 saw the beginning of major reconstruction and building in the center of the School. As soon as the snow melted, ground was broken for three new dormitories in the area around the Schoolhouse and the Rectory. To make room for the buildings, the Rectory carriage house was moved from behind the Rectory to a location just beyond the New Upper. In addition, the debris from the Big Study fire was cleared away and the site filled in to create a lawn. As a result of the fire, a new place for reports will have to be built. For a temporary solution to the problem, when the ground dried, Reports moved from inside the Chapel to the steps of the door facing the Lower School Pond. This location proved to be satisfactory and will continue to be used until the new building is erected.

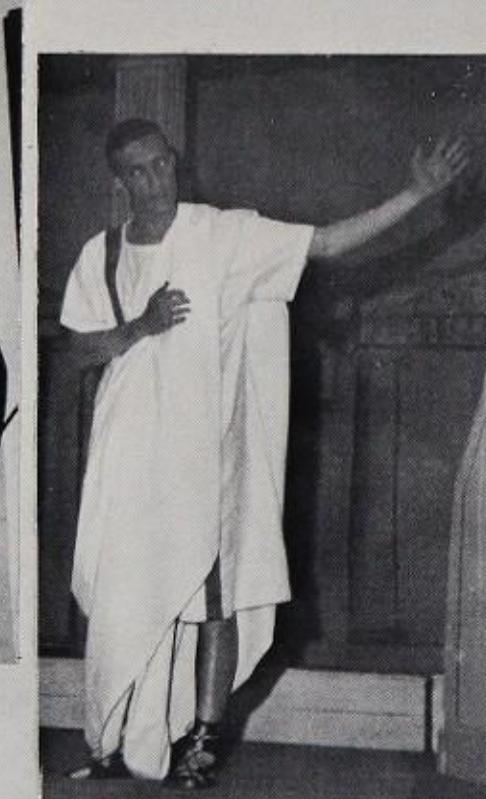

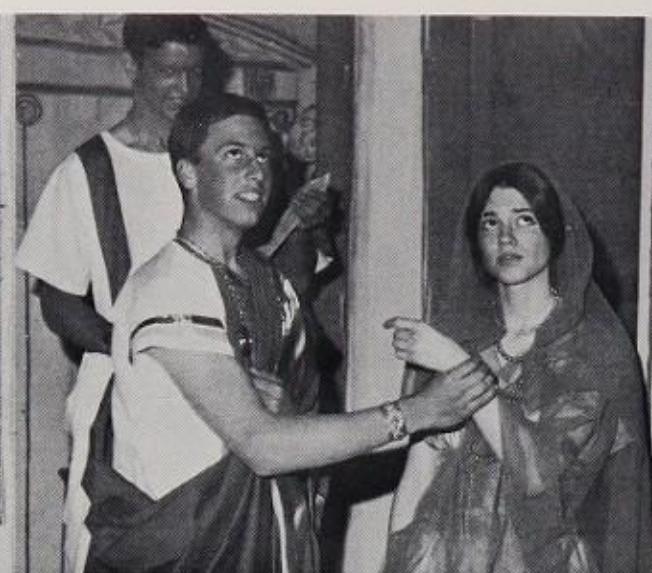

From April twenty-eighth through May third, Sir Charles Snow visited the School as the spring term Conroy Fellow. On Friday and Saturday the distinguished author and scientist addressed the faculty and Fifth and Sixth Forms. Sir Charles also visited several classes. Many boys were able to meet personally both Sir Charles and Lady Snow, because they were here for almost a week. On the final night of the visit, the combined scientific and literary societies held a dinner in the Gates room in the Snows' honor.

The annual Cadmean-Concordian debate was held on May fourth. The topic was, Resolved: that laziness and imagination are a better combination than industry and lack of imagination. By unanimous vote of the judges, the more organized negative side, the Concordian, defeated the Cadmean for the first time since 1958. Owen Walker of the Concordian was voted best speaker.

The Glee Club, directed by Mr. Blake, entertained the School two times during the term. On the first Saturday night of the term, it presented a combined concert with Abbott Academy. In place of the traditional Glee Club Show on Anniversary, a concert of both serious and popular music was presented before the movies.

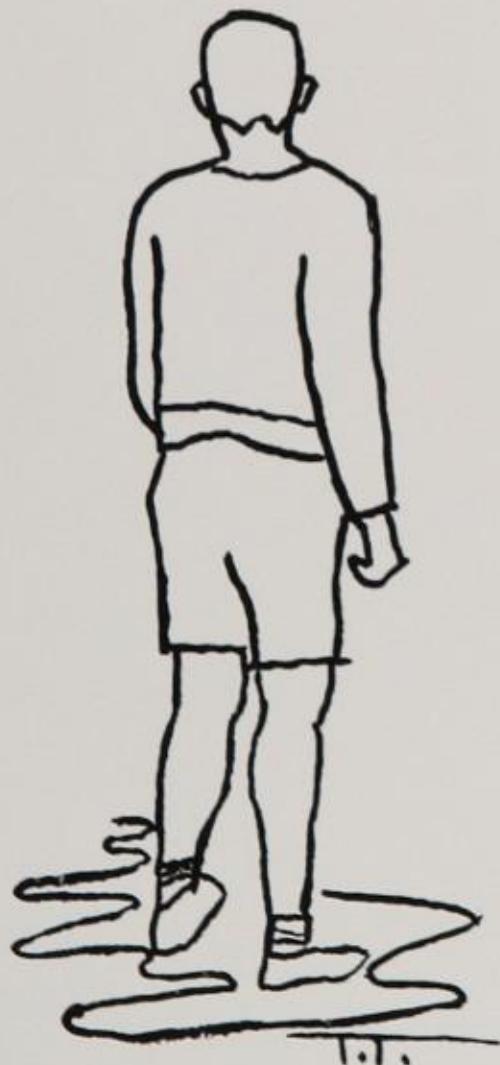

Dance Weekend began on Friday, May twelfth, with the production that night of Shakespeare's Julius Caesar, directed by Mr. Greaves. Philip Heckscher of the Fifth Form starred as Antony. Lewis Rutherford and Peter Johnson, also Fifth Formers, appeared as Brutus and Caesar. Rory Johnston, another Fifth Former, was Cassius. The School enjoyed the difficult production, which was highlighted by the excellent delivery of the longer speeches, the rapid pace, and the lavish, authentic costumes designed and created by Mrs. Lea.

On Saturday morning the Old Hundreds defeated the Isthmians, 4-2, in a well played ball game. That afternoon the SPS track, tennis, and lacrosse teams contributed to the festive occasion as all three defeated their opponents, a rare occurrence in recent years. The formal dance that evening was held on the basketball court with ninety couples and numerous stags in attendance. The first summer weather of the year made the weekend one of the top events in the school year.

In sports this term, the Isthmians were undefeated in the lacrosse series. The Old Hundreds and Delphians each won one game and lost three to tie for second place. In baseball, the Old Hundreds finished first for the first time in several years, and with only two Sixth Formers on the team the OH should be strong again next year. The Isthmians, winners at least the last four years in a row, finished second, two points ahead of the Delphians. After a poorly played first round, the teams settled down to play a closely contested series that wasn't decided until the final game. After the club season both the lacrosse and baseball teams played their limited outside schedules. The track team was improved over last year's, but lacked the depth to score consistently. Richard Wilmer broke the school record for the mile, and Harry Loomis set a new school mark for the javelin. The tennis team, with only Jim Crane and Terry Winslow back from last year's team, played well. Several Fourth and Fifth Formers should make an excellent team in a year or two.

Crew had a good year, getting off to an earlier start than usual on the pond. For the first time in several years, the practice of early season sprint races was revived when the Shattucks won five of seven sprints on the first Saturday in May. The top crews rowed the regular schedule of outside races including the Worcester Regatta before finishing the season on Race Day early in June.

". . . and our work is done."
